

Staff of the Agency on Statistics was participated on training on the developing of modern methodology on questionnaires.

25 August. Today in Dushanbe was finalized 5-day seminar on “Quality of statistical data and quality of reporting”, on which staff of Agency on Statistics were trained to new methods of the questionnaire’s design, projection, and testing and data quality for the surveys conducting.

On this workshop were participated 16 officials of high and middle level of the agency on Statistics. On this seminar staff was introduced with cognitive model in answers, conceptual base, visual design and elements’ allocation, quality interview, etc.

Seminar was conducted by the international expert, Professor Manfred Iling from the Statistical agency of Germany in the frame of the project on “Strengthening of the national statistical system of Tajikistan - TAJSTAT”.

The TAJSTAT was beginning to work in 2007 and it is funded by the International Association of Development (the World Bank), Ministry of international Development of Great Britain, Swiss Agency on international Cooperation and the Government of the Republic of Tajikistan. The total amount of project is more than five million (5.85 mln.) USD.